

Examining Forces

Today you will complete your _____ station for your Examining Forces experiment. Please take a moment, with your group, to discuss the safety concerns at your current station.

Remember that you need to document your observations and your thoughts, you will be using these for your assignment that you will get at the end. For observations:

- Did you hear anything?
- How did it feel to apply the force?
- Is there any change in the material when you apply the force?

It is your groups responsibility to clean up your station when you are done.

If you finish early you may:

- explore the concepts at your station further.
- update/complete your science binder.
